

OFPPT

مكتب التكوين المهني وإنعاش الشغل

Examen de Fin de Formation
Session Juin 2013

Epreuve : Communication en Anglais

Niveau : T

Durée : 1H 30MN

V2

Barème : / 20

Read the text carefully.

Reading is a plus for the student as well as for the old people. The government has given its population newspapers, magazines, books; so as to possess educated intelligent inhabitants for the welfare of the country. Hence, the importance of reading has increased and now in fact, for everybody, at every stage of life the skill of reading is a must. There are various reasons which support this reality.

Continuous reading will give a child of five or six years old more creativeness and imagination. This aspect of reading is mostly exploited by storywriters; artists such as painters, actors, poets, designers whether in architecture or in fashion. Therefore, reading also plays a part in the determination of a person's career.

Reading is especially essential for students. Through reading, pupils improve their vocabulary and upgrade their way of talking as well as their style of writing. The teenagers learn all the time by reading new, interesting books which for example give them several good ideas for any type of essays. Reading indeed is a helping hand in education mainly in English.

Nowadays, the adults do not have time to spare; all the time goes in working, doing household tasks and looking after children. They are so busy that they do not watch the news on TV. As a result, they tend to forget the outside world, the society and enclose themselves in their homes. Since they are not aware of what is happening around, they end up alone. Reading can help them overcome this ignorance. For instance, during breakfast or in the bus one can take a newspaper and at the same time, eat. In this way, time is not wasted and the unpleasant feeling of being always in dreamland will disappear as well.

Last but not least reading is also a form of relaxation. This is why reading is a world-wide pastime. When it is raining and the children cannot play outdoors, many prefer reading to playing computer games because the latter cause headache quickly and nothing good is acquired. Adults are seen with newspapers and magazines through which they get peace of mind.

Questions:

I- COMPREHENSION: 7/7

A- Answer the following questions from the text: 3/3

- 1- Why does the government provide books, magazines and books to its population?
- 2- How is reading essential to students?
- 3- Why do adults end up alone?

B- Answer with False or True, Justify: 2/2

- 1- Through reading a child will be creative.
- 2- Adults have a lot of time for reading.

C- Give the synonyms of the following words from the text: 1/1

- 1- Wellbeing
- 2- young people

D- Give the opposite of the following words from the text: 1/1

- 1- Less
- 2- lazy

II- LANGUAGE: 9/9

A- Give the correct tense of the verbs between brackets: 2/2

- 1- While he (read) a novel, his brother (watch) TV.
- 2- He usually (like) fiction stories but now he (read) a romantic novel.

B- Rewrite the following as suggested: 4/4

- 1- The government has given its population newspapers, magazines and books.
- Newspapers, magazines and books
- 2- Continuous reading will give a child creativeness and imagination.
- A child
- 3- "Yesterday I read an interesting article in the newspaper".
- He told me
- 4- "Where have you been lately?"
- He asked me

C- Rewrite the following sentences using the words given: 3/3

- 1- He trained very hard; he wanted to win the race. (In order to)
- 2- "Please, where is the (near) gas- station?"
- 3- He wasn't happy and his friend isn't happy too. (Neither nor)

III- Writing: 4/4:

"Through reading, pupils improve their vocabulary and upgrade their way of talking at explain how in a few words.